

Parrot Cove Association Board Meeting January 23, 2007

Location: St. Andrew's church

In attendance were: Kris Rouse, Diana Scheiner, Navy Bean, Phil Weinrich, Anna Schafer, Cristina Kuhnel and Sandy.

Navy said that the non-profit status of the organization could be renewed and Anna will do this online. Rodney Romano remains the legal representative for the organization.

Navy and Anna will have the names changed on the bank account accessibility. They should be able to do this with a copy of the election minutes.

Kris would like to be responsible for the Crime Watch committee and will check out the Crime Watch neighborhood status.

Miscellaneous:

Boundary signs are still in the works. Design has been done, but getting city permits might be difficult because of the location of the signs on private/public ground. Alternatives might be a pole with sign attached or sign on current already existing street signs. Anna will inquire from Flamingo Park about their signs and talk to Darren Angle from the City's Historic Board about ideas.

Meeting signs: since we could only find three signs it was decided that we need to purchase 6 more to announce future general meetings. The sign should say only announce meeting /Tuesday / 7pm – Kris is looking into getting these done.

Sponsors of Parrot in the Hood are given $100 to host the party.

Generating additional money – home tours, garden tours, garage sales.

Discussion to be continued in future board meetings.

It cost us $50 to hold a function at the church, however Will Grubbs wants to have a word with the church to offer the space for free – Diana to follow up.

Some Parrot Cove item should be made available to the membership.

Nominations for new board were approved and the Board voted on positions (after the meeting) as follows:

President – Navy Bean

1st Vice President – Kris Rouse

Secretary – Diana Scheiner

Treasurer – Anna Schafer

Board Members: Phil Weinrich, Christina Kuhnel and Sandy Cocozelli

Meeting adjourned at 7:45 PM.
